Profile

Former engineer-technologist. I worked at a company that specialized in the manufacture of aircraft engines. Was involved in the development of technological processes for the manufacture and repair of parts and assembly units, the development and maintenance of technical documentation. I would like to change my field of work and receive an offer from an IT company. I am studying at an IT course under the "Java Developer" program and have gained knowledge and practical skills of a large set of Java and Web technologies.
